tent and qualified." At present the schools are in the best of condition and owes much to these who are at it helm today, and every man should vote to maintain it so. Keep the school non-partisan and non-denominational in the matters of teachers, and the director who thus views is the only kind of a man who is qualified. The school is your school, whether you are a hypocrite or a christian, a socialist or a mugwump, and should be, and remain free of any political ties.

Now, good people of Hayti, let us all go to the polls next Tuesday, April 4, and not only be prepared, but use our best efforts to vote for the best interest of our schools and maintain the business administration of our city.

Democrats should not give credence to the Republican report that certain Democratic leaders have formed a combine to to name any portion of the ticket. Republican papers and politicians have recently been busy with a story of that sort. There's not a word of truth in it. No Democratic leader or combination of leaders would accept the responsibility of naming the ticket or any portion of it, even if the privilege were offered him or them. That's all dust thrown in the air. A discerning Democrat will disregard all such stuff, unless he is full of cussedness and wishes to promote confusion. If there are any Democrats tempted to tattle that tale their case should be investigated and paragonic administered at once.

The fact that the Democratic National convention is to be held in St. Louis and that Missouri's Governor is now the most prominent candidate for the Vice-Presidential nomination, gives the St. Louis Republic, as the leading party organ in the State, a fine opportunity for party service. Democrats all over the State are hoping the paper will make good use of the opportunity and measure up to the responsibility. Likewise the weekly press has a party opportunity and responsibility in these matters. The Democratic convention has spoken and Democrats and every agency they support and control should be and, we believe, will be loyal to its wishes and commands. Missouri Democracy has no traitors.

In a speech opening his campaign for re-election in Massachusetts, Senator Lodge made serious objection to the policy of the Wilson administration with reference to taxes. No surprise about that. The income tax has always been objectionable to Republicans like Lodge. Their policy has been to tax the poor to support the government and pass the hat around to the rich for the support of the Republican campaign. The Wilson administration enacted the income tax law and now the rich help support the government instead of the Republican party. Lodge doesn't like it, but the people do.

The interest collected on deposits of State funds during the first three years of the Major administration was $300,000 greater than in any three years of the Hadley administration, or any other three years in the history of the State. For fear some Republican may say that the capitol building fund brought in the excess interest, we will state that the record shows that the interest collected on the deposits of the general revenue fund for the same period, is over $100,000 greater than that collected on the same fund for any like period of time. The reason—this administration is getting a higher rate of interest from the bank depositories than any former administration made them pay.

When a Republican tells you that the Democratic State administration has been a failure, ask him for a bill of particulars. Then watch him stutter. He can't specify. Even the Globe-Democrat and Post-Dispatch are unable to particularize. They have no facts, hence they resort to wholesale condemnation that establish nothing. Democrats need only to present the record to make out the Democratic case and assure a verdict in November.

The St. Joe convention wasn't a "cut and dried affair." Every Democrat with a grievance had an opportunity to relieve the "pent up" at St. Joe. Now he feels better and those capable of self-respect feel just a little ashamed. That's a splendid sign and contributes mightily to harmony and a united front before the common enemy. The convention was a safety valve and henceforth the agony will be in the enemy's camp.

Congress heard from the country then voted right, and the recent flurry is history some Congressmen desire to forget at the earliest possible date. Among the first message to reach Congress was the one from the Democratic editors of Missouri. It was clear and forceful in its terms and represented the sentiment of the Democratic masses.

The prospect for Democratic harmony in Missouri is very disconcerting to the Globe-Democrat and the Post-Dispatch. Their desperate efforts to disturb that harmony have all come to naught. Democrats have learned that these two papers make no effort to keep within hailing distance of the truth when discussing a Democratic State administration, or telling of the political situation in the party in this State.

The Republican party doesn't know whether after June its head is going to look like an elephant or a bull moose. If a moose, then the 1915 tribe of elephants will refuse to recognize the call and fall by the wayside. If an elephant, the 1912 bull moose won't know the bellow and will refuse to gang with the clumsy animals. There's no way of escape. Just take your medicine.

We are still unable to find those $5.00 calves, $15.00 cows, 3 cent hogs, 50 cent wheat and 15 cent corn the Republican orators told us we'd have if Wilson should be elected. If our Republican friends have any of the aforesaid stuff to sell they refuse to price it according to the above schedule. They're not treating us right. Carry out your policies.
